Music at St. Alban's, Annandale | 2023-2024

Dear Music Lover:

The Muldoon Memorial Concert Series is about to begin its 2023-2024 season of free Sunday afternoon concerts, all at 4:00 PM. You are warmly invited to attend these concerts, each of which will be followed by an informal reception where you can meet the artists.

October 22, 4:00 P.M. – Madeline Miskie, crossover vocalist

Professional singer Madeline Miskie presents a program called "Into the Light: Songs of Transformation." The common thread woven throughout the program is transformation, exploring critical moments in time when the truth cannot be unseen and change is inevitable. Spanning the genres of plainchant, baroque, folk, art song, contemporary musical theater and pop, this program promises a wide range of vocal colors and musical soundscapes.

February 18, 4:00 PM – Sopran*essence*

Sopran*essence* was founded in 2007 with the vision of forming an ensemble of professional female singers that would perform unique arrangements of opera, musical theater and other traditional American repertoire. Sopran*essence* brings this wide variety of music to life, proving that classical music is an art form for everyone.

March 17, 4:00 P.M. – Third Annual Annandale Bach Birthday Marathon

An afternoon of short performances of organ works of J. S. Bach by talented local artists on St. Alban's beautiful mechanical action organ (John Leek, Op. 1). Audience members can drop in and depart at will. When the marathon ends at 6:00 P.M., concertgoers and musicians will continue to celebrate Johann Sebastian with a festive reception, where beer and German fare will be served.

May 12, 4:00 P. M. – Thomas Gaynor, organ

One of the world's leading young organ talents, Thomas Gaynor was the first-prize winner of the St. Alban's International Organ Competition, among many other honors. He has performed widely across the Americas, Europe, and Australasia. You don't want to miss this!
