

Music at St. Alban's, Annandale | 2022-2023

Dear Music Lover:

The Muldoon Memorial Concert Series is about to begin its 2022-2023 season of free Sunday afternoon concerts, all at 4:00 PM. You are warmly invited to attend these concerts, each of which will be followed by an informal reception where you can meet the artists.

October 23, 4:00 P.M. – Carrie Rose, flutist

Carrie Rose, flutist and Szu-Yi Li, pianist combine liquid phrasing and musical sensitivity to interpret the delicate Morceau de Concours by Fauré, the dark and complex Sonata in E Minor by J. S. Bach, the frothy Cantabile et Presto by Enesco, and the fireworks of Poulenc's Sonata. Szu-Yi interprets Schumann-Liszt's Widmung for solo piano.

February 12, 4:00 PM – Concert Choirs Carmina and Illuminare

Carmina and its sister organization, the treble ensemble Illuminare, will present a program of Renaissance and early Baroque choral works by English, German, and Italian composers including music by William Byrd, Thomas Tallis, Thomas Tompkins, Johann Michael Bach, Johann Kuhnau, and Caterina Assandra.

March 19, 4:00 P.M. – Second Annual Annandale Bach Birthday Marathon

An afternoon of short performances of organ works of J. S. Bach by talented local artists on St. Alban's beautiful mechanical action organ (John Leek, Op. 1). Audience members can drop in and depart at will. When the marathon ends at 6:00 P.M., concertgoers and musicians will continue to celebrate Johann Sebastian with a festive reception, where beer and German fare will be served.

May 21, 4:00 P. M. – Dr. Kimberly Marshall, organist

The organ was invented in the third century BCE, and it has an incredibly large repertoire. Nevertheless there are many hidden gems. A specialist on the earliest and most recent music for the organ, Kimberly Marshall will present a program entitled "Journeys into Freedom," featuring compositions by medieval, women, black and Navajo composers that contextualize more well-known works. Come discover new music on the world's oldest instrument!

We are grateful for all of those who have contributed to our concert fund in the past, and we warmly welcome those who wish to support this year's upcoming series.
